STUDY ABROAD

More than 300 programs are offered across the Middle East, Africa, Asia, Australia and New Zealand, Central and South America, and Europe.

The Providence College Center for Theology and Religious Studies is located in the heart of Rome. Students study Italian language, theology, and a wide variety of subjects such as art, history, business, and politics.

STUDENT-FACULTY RESEARCH

Students in all majors have the opportunity to collaborate with faculty members to conduct research on campus and across the globe. Students are also able to present their research at national conferences and at our annual campus-wide Celebration of Student Scholarship and Creativity.

Our Undergraduate Research Grants Program helps to fund eligible juniors and seniors who are interested in completing individual scholarly research or creative work.
